Vintage Conditions

The 2023 vintage began in the Hunter Valley cool and wet growing season with above average rainfall in Spring. These wet conditions increased disease pressure which was carefully managed with good vineyard practices. The cool conditions . continued into late December and early January but the wet weather cleared to sunnier than usual days. Near perfect ripening conditions resulted in wines that have intense flavours, whilst maintaining freshness and natural acidity.

Winemakers Notes

The grapes were harvested at the beginning of March, destemmed, crushed into the press where the juice and skins were held together to extract the pink colour from the skins. The fruit was then pressed to tank where it was cold settled and then racked. The fermentation took place at a cold temperature to retain the aromatic characteristics. After fermenting 50% of it's sugar content, the ferment is stopped, the wine is immediately filtered and bottled to preserve its fresh style.

Tasting Notes

Colour

Ruby pink.

Bouquet

An aromatic wine with ripe strawberries, raspberries and lifted floral notes.

Palate

A delicate and lively wine on the palate with ripe red berry flavours and a hint of spritz. The fruit sweetness is balanced with a crisp acidity.
